

TO ART GALLERY

By GLENNIS ZILM

EDMONTON (CP) — The University of Alberta's new art gallery is probably the only one in Canada that has four small viewing rooms—and four large bathrooms.

But then, the art gallery's new location was once the gracious home of the university's presidents from 1911 to 1958. Later it became a women's residence, then classrooms—and the once-elegant interior gradually took on a beaten-up appearance.

The interior had a face-lift last summer when a few of the walls were removed and it became the University Art Gallery and Museum.
